ALL WANT TO BE ON THE BOARD.

One new member of the state board of control will be an Irish Catholic, it is announced, and ex-Secretary of State Peter Doyle, of Milwaukee, ex-Assemblyman M. J. Cantwell, of Madison, Mr. Cleary, brother of the Catholic prelate, are all willing to represent that element. Doyle is thought to be in the lead, though Cantwell's friends believe that their candidate has better claims in being not only an Irish Catholic, but an old soldier and a resident of that section of the state that ought to be represented on the board. Mr. Cantwell is bolstering up his chances by cutting the rope that supposedly connected him with the food and dairy commission. He declares that he is not in any sense an aspirant for H. C. Thom's shoes. Mr. Cantwell has need to put his fighting clothes on for he has an opponent in his own county in the person of ex-Governor William R. Taylor, who it is said is more than willing to go on the new board. Two strong candidates John E. Wright, of Baraboo, and J. H. Ernest, of Shullsburg. There are also scores of others.

THE JEWS OF RUSSIA.

It is about time that the civilized world should protest against the brutal, inhuman and un-Christian conduct of the Russian government as shown in its treatment of the Jewish people of that country?

Many years ago it was customary for all countries to protest against the wrongs of human slavery in America, but the cruelty and wrong inflicted upon the slaves was no more unjust and brutal than the treatment awarded the Jews by a government professing Christianity. The only crime committed by these people is the entertaining of religious views at variance with the established church. They are a peaceable, law-abiding people, and should not be molested on account of their religious convictions and principles.

A BRIEF DODGE LAW DIALOGUE.

Two Rivers Chronicle (Dem): Is the Dodge law a good law? If so, why repeal it? If in its operation it protects the rights of innocent parties and robs no one of anything not wrongly obtained, it should not be repealed.

Milwaukee Sentinel: "Why repeal it?"—well, because the archbishop doesn't like it.

A Madison dispatch announces curtly that suit is to be commenced at once against ex-Treasurer Harshav and his bondsmen, for interest moneys received by him while in office. The Milwaukee Sentinel insists that the report must be premature, as it seems inconsistent with the general course of democratic management for any legal proceeding to be instituted on behalf of the state without the accompaniment of a brass band and all other available instruments of noise. Especially in the treasury cases every time a demand, even has been made for money of any of the parties alleged to be liable, a war dance has been held, and show bills telegraphed far and near. The Wall management is essentially a circus management, and quiet action might as reasonably be expected from a circus as from the present riders of Wisconsin democracy.

Evidently our morning contemporary does not like the idea of electing W. J. McIntyre chairman of the board of supervisors. The Gazette is extremely sorry that The Recorder does not think kindly of so good and capable a man as the Lima representative. Yet it is written as plain as fate that Mr. McIntyre will be elected, and The Recorder will be compelled to seek succor of sorrow in other directions.

An article going the patent route of the press has the pictures and sketches of a batch of alleged California widows, each worth several millions. The latter statement throws a halo around visages that otherwise would have no attraction. It is probably a scheme of the railroads to secure a big passenger business to California this season.

The trial of 179 members of the Mala Viti society in Italy has resulted in the conviction of 165. The Mala Vitis are kindred of the Mafia. America's interest in the proceedings is in the fact that not more than fourteen of this gang can by any possibility come to this country for at least six years, the shortest term to which any were sentenced.

The tour of the postmaster-general has opened his eyes to the fact that the west has grown faster than its mail facilities and he announces that they must be improved. It would be profitable to the entire country if every executive officer of the government could make a trip through all sections of the Union soon after entering upon his duty.

Governor Hill has recently filed the statement that he has affixed his signature for the last time to a legislative act. This is properly taken that he will not be a candidate for governor again. This is better politics and sense than some have credited him with.

There is a suggestion of reciprocity in the respective claims of Manitoba and North Dakota papers that disgraced immigrants on either side are pushing their way back, never to cross the line again. Dakota has lost nothing, quite certainly.

BADGER STATE FOLK.

Gabe Bouck has been made president of the Oshkosh Fair Association.
M. J. Cantwell says he doesn't want H. C. Thom's job.

Ex-Governor Wm. R. Taylor wants to go on the new board of control. So do ninety-nine other people. One hundred applicants for place have been filed.

Major A. J. Cheney told Janesville friends they knew more about his candidacy than he did.

Rev. Dr. Parkhurst of Milwaukee says he will beat the drum for Salvationists, and suffer imprisonment too, to vindicate the claims of religious liberty in Milwaukee.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

Last of the Old Beau.

BEAU GARDINIER AT HIS BEST.

Lawrence Gardiner, the "last of the old beaus" in America, was recently found dead in his bed at the Brooklyn home for aged men, he being ninety-one at the time of his death. In youth he was rich and a protégé of Aaron Burr. From 1823 to 1837 he was the Beau Brummel of New York city. He lost his entire fortune, went into business and gained a competency, lost that in the panic of 1837-8 and then retired for good and all.

Small Matters.

Advertisers cannot take too much care in the typographical setting of their advertisements. Sometimes a trifling alteration, the substitution of a slightly different style of type, or the rearrangement of a headline, will tell perceptibly upon the general appearance of the advertisement and the results to the advertiser.

The Question, "Is Marriage a Failure?" Settled at Last.

The two lines above show the arrangement of a heading of an advertisement sent to a well known magazine. Upon the suggestion of the publisher it was changed to read as follows:

The Question, "Is Marriage a Failure?" Settled at Last.

In making this alteration the publisher writes: "It may be a small matter, but in my opinion the success or failure of an advertisement sometimes depends upon just such small matters." And just here the question arises, Do advertisers in general bestow as much attention as they ought upon these "small matters?"

She Cleaned the Picture.

A prominent Methodist of the High lands secured some time ago in New York a valuable painting of John Wesley, which he valued highly. In the absence of his family one day the servant girl undertook to do some house cleaning on her own account. She accordingly took the pictures from the wall and treated the gilded frame and the sainted Wesley's face to a thorough washing with water and soap. Not being an expert at cleaning pictures, the picture, although not ruined, was sadly defaced.—Springfield Homestead.

Always Have a "Leader."

The merchant who would secure and hold a large custom should make it a point to always have some "leader"—something he can recommend as unusually good value for the money, or unusually desirable for some reason. Customers may come to buy the "leader," on which the margin of profit is apt to be quite narrow, but a good salesman can usually succeed in "broadening the horizon" of the average purchaser, if he once gets him in hand, and has honest goods and plenty of them in sufficient variety. Leave some advertising to be done after the customer enters the store.

A Point for the Advertiser.

Pay your readers the compliment of assuming that they will understand what you have to say to them, even if it be technical. If you make or sell first class dry goods tell where yours differ from any one else's, point out how to tell good cloth or lace or whatever you sell. Show the economy in buying the kind that you carry, or, if you carry more than one grade, of buying the best.—Polytechnic in the Office.

A New War Ship.

The Monterey, launched in April, 1891, at San Francisco, is a twin screw vessel, 250 feet in length, with extreme beam width of 59 feet; mean draught, sea-going trim, 17 feet; horse power, 5,400, and speed, 16 knots. Her displacement is 2,200 tons, with 5,000 tons, and she is fitted with subsiding tanks, into which water is admitted when preparing for action, and which bring the ship lower in the water and increase her displacement by 500 tons.

Try Beecham's Pills for the complexion.

PEN, PENCIL AND BRUSH.

Lord Tennyson does a large dairy business in the Isle of Wight, where many of the milk carts bear his name.

Maurice F. Egan, the well known poet, critic and magazine writer, is at work on a novel to be called "The Success of Patrick Desmond."

The new Lord Houghton is a poet, it appears, as was the preceding bearer of the title, Montagu Milnes. He is about to publish a volume entitled "Stray Verses."

It is said that Mrs. Burton Harrison's charming summer home at Bar Harbor was built entirely with the money derived from her pen. Most of Mrs. Harrison's plays are adaptations.

Ibsen was entertained at a banquet of journalists and actors at the Hotel Continental in Vienna recently. R. von Sonnenhal, the actor, toasted him as the "greatest living dramatist," whereupon Ibsen kissed him.

Mrs. Marianne Stokes, the clever English artist, is said to have been painting when hardly more than an infant, and she was ever without a pencil or a box of paints she would squeeze flowers on a sheet of paper until they gave up their colors.

By the death of Dr. Karl Oesterley, in Hanover, the art world loses, in all probability, its oldest son. Oesterley was born in 1805 in Goettingen, where he became a professor of art in 1829. He retired his professorship with the directorship of the art gallery until 1861.

"Bust of a Young Man with His Mouth Open," a small canvas in the Dresden Museum attributed to Adrien Brouwer, has been stolen. Amateurs and dealers in the United States may be on the lookout for the thief, who is most likely to come across the ocean with his booty.

Miss Mary E. Wilkins bears a noticeable resemblance to the famous Jane Austen, not only in her "small, neat pen," but also in her love of country life, her delightful sense of humor and her capacity to write her stories on her knee, in a room full of people, undisturbed by chattering or laughter.

Rosa Bonheur, notwithstanding she has entered upon the seventieth year of her age, is yet encrossed in her art. Her latest picture is "After a Storm in the Highlands," and the models and accessories used in it were all taken across the channel from Argyleshire to Fontainebleau, where the picture was painted.

FRUIT EATING ANIMALS.

It is well known that rabbits, rats and squirrels all eat apples.

The ostrich will consume half a dozen kinds of fruit.

The cherry is a delicacy much sought after by the whole feathered tribe.

Peaches are not a favorite except with a few animals, though rabbits fancy them.

Nothing, perhaps, is so bitter as olives freshly pickled, yet after they turn purple and black hogs soon learn to devour them.

The Esquimaux dog will eat almost any of the dried fruits. The sour or acid fruits, as the orange, lemon, lime, shaddock, etc., as well as the sour plums and the bitter olives, are rarely eaten.

The fig is the favorite fruit among animals, and camels, horses, cows, hogs, sheep and goats will eat this fruit as readily as man. The elephant considers it a dainty, while all the fowl greedily devour figs.

The apple ranks high in favor, and horses, cows, sheep, goats, hogs and many of the wild animals eat apples with avidity. The elephant and deer are fond of them, while others become accustomed to them after a trial or two. All the domestic fowls and many of the wild birds are fond of apples.

The sweet and luscious grapes are eaten with great relish by horses, cows and sheep. Deer are fond of grapes, and often do much damage in California vineyards.

Hogs fatten upon grapes, rabbits eat them, and a number of the wild animals, as the elephant and camel, will eat them.—Waverley Magazine.

THE JEWEL CASKET.

Turquoises are both becoming and fashionable.

Platinum, silver and gold are frequently all employed in one piece of jewelry.

For mourning brooches the black pansy in enameled gold, with a diamond center, is effective.

The latest thing out in parasol sticks are those having straight handles of shell inlaid with silver.

Gold wire bracelets are ornamented with a large fancy colored stone surrounded by small diamonds.

A unique butter dish is one with a glass lining and shaped like a leaf, with a stem handle at one side.

Among the favored designs in jewelry are half stars, elongated crescents, snakes, long arrows and swords.

Numbered with attractive flexible bracelets are the ones composed of small gold plaques overlapping and alternating with silver ones.

Favorite neck chains are tiny gold ones, from which hang pendant and at short intervals five or more moonstone hearts, bordered with little pearls.

The fad for birthday rings is on the increase. Women and children are fast learning the appropriate stones and the sentiment conveyed for each month. Those who are not versed in gem literature refer to the printed matter on the trays in which these rings are displayed.—Jewelry Circular.

EUROPE IN AFRICA.

France's possessions in Africa amount to 7,400,000 square kilometers, peopled with 24,000,000 inhabitants.

England holds sway in Africa, including Egypt, over 5,000,000 square kilometers, with inhabitants to the number of 32,000,000.

Germany's possessions in the Dark Continent amount to 2,300,000 square kilometers of land, on which are located 7,800,000 inhabitants.

Little Portugal has managed to get control of 229,000 square kilometers of African land, and its rule extends over a population there of 10,000,000 people.

Italy has the smallest slice of the Dark Continent, her possessions in land amounting to only 1,350,000 square kilometers, and the number of inhabitants being a little over 5,100,000 souls.

SOME USEFUL HINTS.

The oftener carpets are shaken the longer they wear; the dust cuts the fiber of woven goods.

SNAP SHOTS.

Never dry a negative on the stove or in the sun.

Always keep your developer in a colored glass bottle.

If you give them a chance, water bugs will fatten themselves on your negative films.

Never keep useless negatives, and never make an exposure just for the sake of exposing a plate.

Mr. W. H. Windham, of the Brookline Camera club, has just returned from a trip to California, bringing with him 175 views of his own taking.

A Parisian camerist has devised a method of taking panoramic views by causing the camera to revolve on an axis, so that the sensitive paper may "take in" the horizon.

Revolving cameras are about to undertake the testing of photographic lenses, as it has for many years done that of telescopes, sextants, surveying instruments and chronometers.

Mica is now used in Germany for the support of gelatine films instead of glass. It is much cheaper than glass or celluloid, and has the advantage of being presented from either side. The sheet, during development, shows no disposition to curl.

A New York photographer made a curious mistake recently. While at work in his gallery he drank a heavy dose of pyrogallic acid, mistaking it for whiskey. He immediately, upon seeing his mistake, drank a solution of soda as a counter irritant, and did not feel any bad effects from the acid, but three days later he died.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

The first submarine cable of French manufacture is now being finished at Calais.

The Richmond (Ind.) Local Telegraph company is an association of amateur telegraphers operating a private telegraph line for amusement and the promotion of social enjoyment.

Electric motors are said to be coming into general use in shoe factories. Manufacturers find the motors preferable in cleanliness, economy, and in fact in every way, to steam power.

The want of absolute silence on the telephone wires between London and Paris is thought to be due to an improper application of the well known twist system for preventing inductive disturbances.

Electric motors have been applied to upward of 140 different uses, and the number is still increasing. The sizes of the motors include those of from a fraction of a horse power to one of 5,000 horse power, which is in operation near London.

English manufacturers are bleaching paper by an electrical process, without, it is stated, impairing its strength. A magnesium chloride solution is decomposed by a powerful electric current, with the evolution of chlorine and oxygen.

ATCHISON PHILOSOPHY.

How an angry man hates to see anything that would make him smile.

After a man passes fifty he becomes a sign post with "Don't" printed on it.

The most difficult task in the world is to live a day without making a mistake.

The greater a man's knowledge, the greater has been his suffering in order to know.

Don't be critical; criticism is not wisdom, though foolish people sometimes think it is.

Before doing a disreputable thing, remember that the people have long tongues and willing ears.

A man can really see when he is imposed upon, but it seldom occurs to him that he often imposes upon others.

Every man intends to do better than he does. Heaven will not be very far away when men are as good as their resolutions.

A man is surprised when he reaches thirty to realize the little he has had when he was eighteen. He will be still more surprised when he is fifty to realize the little sense he had when he was thirty.—Atchison Globe.

To have our desire set on nothing absolutely except character, to be glad that God should lead us into any land where there is character to win—the only real explanation of life.—Rev. Dr. Phillips Brooks.

If friendship is to rob me of my eyes, if it is to darken the day, I will have none of it. It should be expansive and moon-creatively liberating in its effects. True friendship can afford true knowledge. It does not depend on darkness and ignorance.—Thoreau.

If any speak ill of thee flee home to thy own conscience, and examine thy heart; if thou be guilty, it is just correction; if not guilty, it is a fair instruction; make use of both, so shalt thou distill honey out of gall, and out of an open enemy create a secret friend.—Cicero.

Castoria. "Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children." D. G. C. Osmond, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various castor nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves." D. J. F. Kinschloe, Conway, Ark.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it." UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

FIRE COSTS $13,000.

Flames Ravage the Bailey Batting Factory.

FRICTION THE CAUSE OF THE BLAZE.

Besides the Costly Machinery Much Destruction Is Wrought Amid Baled Cotton in Howe Brothers Warehouse. Narrow Escape of the Mayflower.

Thirty men with big sponges clinched in their teeth fought a fire in the Bailey bat mill this morning. For two hours they drove streams of water into mud-colored smoke thick enough to lean against.

Then the hose-men and the axemen and ladder crew began to get the best of it, and the "fire-out" bell was rung.

"Damage thirteen thousand dollars." That was what close observers said as they looked over the gutted buildings after the firemen had withdrawn. They were not far from right. In the batting mill was machinery worth $25,000. Among this the flames had started and the heat added to the floods of water, had played havoc with the delicate machinery. In the building to the east was stored $8,000 worth of baled cotton, owned by Howe Brothers, the Rock River Cotton Company. This cotton felt the fire, and nearly half of it was floating in the river, where firemen pushed it with long handled pole-picks.

How the Fire Started. So far as can be learned the blaze started in the "old mill" by friction in a bearing on one of the carding machines. There was a small blaze in a mass of cotton when first discovered, but before water could be secured it had spread and an alarm was turned in. The fire was visible from the railroad track before the alarm, in the engine houses, rang, a locomotive whistle giving the men their first intimation that there was work ahead.

The Spread of the Flames. Firemen found the blaze confined at first to the main building. They were unable for a few moments to put into the building a sufficiently heavy stream, and consequently lost much ground.

From the first floor the blaze mounted to the upper timbers and found flames among the rafters that carried it rapidly.

Among the Cotton Bales. How it spread to the warehouse containing cotton bales is a mystery. There is but a narrow alley way connecting the two buildings and this was not on fire until long after the structures on each end were burning. A puff of smoke was noticed coming from a window; a board was knocked off and the clouds that followed sent firemen back in dismay.

Hard Work to Breathe. It was impossible to work in such an atmosphere, and the pipemen, who provided themselves with wet sponges, which they clutched in their teeth, and through which the air they breathed was filtered. Panels along the sides of the building were knocked out and long hooks were used to pull the blazing bales into the river.

Bales Covered the Water. Before long the water was covered with the fire-marked bundles which floated beneath the bridge and made a forest of the race. Inside of these water-covered bales, however, the fire still smoldered, as one or two which were pulled out and cut open showed. The sparks which had penetrated the wrappings were eating their way into the center, regardless of the floods all around.

Everybody Took a Hand.

Seldom has there been a fire when more volunteer assistance was offered. Crowds lined the Fourth avenue bridge and as they saw the need of help at any place clutched muffs, hats, and handkerchiefs, and gave a lift of smoking cotton. The fire police did yeoman service. One of the lines of hose was in their charge with S. C. Burnham at the pipe and E. B. Heilmann at the nozzle, while on the roof axes were being vigorously wielded by other members of the company to provide a way for the smoke to escape.

The Mayflower in Peril.

Under Howe Brothers' warehouse were several boat houses. Flames among the floor timbers made the attempt to rescue boats stored there very hazardous. All of the crafts were finally rescued and with the aid of the row boats the steamer Mayflower was gotten out of danger. The Mayflower was moored at her wharf alongside the blazing building. To cut her loose and let her drift down stream was impossible for the bridge was too close below. Half a dozen row boats were made fast to ropes thrown over her bow and a "long pull a strong pull and a pull all together" took the big craft ten feet out into the stream.

Pulled Like a Canal Boat.

Then a cable was run to shore between the factory and the railroad bridge, and many willing hands soon took her out of reach of all danger, and moored her near the railroad bridge.

Then the different boat crews turned their attention to piloting the bales of cotton to the general repository in the race.

Fire Out At Last.

At twelve o'clock the fire had been subdued except in a few places in Howe Brothers cotton warehouse. Here two streams of water were held in reserve, while the firemen were given orders to take up.

C. Bailey, proprietor of the bat factory, is unable at present to give even an estimate of his loss, but it will be somewhere in the neighborhood of eight thousand dollars. He has an insurance of six thousand dollars on buildings and machinery.

Howe Brothers estimate their stock at $10,000, one half of which is destroyed. They have an insurance of $3,000.

Stray Puffs of Smoke.

This is the most disastrous fire since the burning of the opera house in 1889.

The fire department put six streams of water on the fire, one being taken from the hydrant on Fourth avenue, crossing the bridge.

The water company furnished good pressure, especially good when it is known that six streams were taken from six inch mains, all centering at that point.

R. C. Yeomans did valiant service as a volunteer, and had a sharp wrestle with a hose pipe on the roof of the warehouse. He finally mastered it, narrowly escaping a fall into the river.

Everything considered the fire was well managed. The fire spread but little after the boys got to work. They were set back a little at the start by hose bursting. This was soon remedied and everything worked well.

Little confidence should be placed in hose that has been placed as third in quality. It should not be depended on in such cases. The delays caused by the old rotten hose bursting this morning might have cost the city many times the cost of new hose.

"IT IS SO VASTLY SUPERIOR."

Pleasant Comment From Milwaukee on the Gazette's Change. Milwaukee Sunday Telegraph.—A notable improvement has been made in the Janesville Gazette. While it adds wonderfully to its appearance to have a handsome new dress, the amount, quality and arrangement of the matter with which the paper is supplied is so vastly superior to that with which the old paper has been supplied the past few years, that its old-time friends are again rejoiced to receive and open it.

A PLUM DROPS HERE ANYWAY.

Two Janesville Men Suggested For the Board of Control.

In telling who will probably be the republican member on the new board of control the Madison Democrat says: "Col. Nick. Smith, of the present board, has also been suggested for the place, but Editor Wilson of the Janesville Recorder, is a strong candidate for one of the berths. He is a democrat. One thing is certain, both the Janesville gentlemen will not get there."

YOUR TAX IS FIXED.

Assessors Find Less Than Usual To List This Year.

MERCHANTS ALL LOW ON STOCK.

In Which Ward Will the Milton Avenue Triangle Pay Its Assessment, the Second or the Third? Considerable Property Now Exempt.

Janesville's assessors are now busy closing up the personal property list department of their yearly work. The law requiring this to be completed in May. Their list will contain many surprises for tax payers. There will be no material change in the sum total of the assessment from that of last year, however. There are good reasons for this. In the first place an important change has been made in the assessment laws, which makes a very great reduction in the personal property figures.

Much Property Now Goes Free.

Formerly the law exempted two hundred dollars worth of household furniture. This was changed last winter making the exemption two hundred dollars of personal property. This change exempts a great deal of property that heretofore found its place on the tax rolls, and now makes a very marked reduction in the personal property returns.

"Another very marked reduction in the personal property lists will be seen in the stocks of merchandise and manufacturers," said Assessor J. H. Balch this morning. "Last year all had large stocks. Most of the merchants held stocks above the usual average. This year nearly all have been sold down to far below the average, making an unusual reduction in the totals."

Short on Goods But Long on Realty.

"While this marked decrease in the value of personal property will be shown in the returns, there will be considerable of an increase in realty. Many new homes have been built since we were around one year ago, and there has been a marked growth in this line. I think the increase in realty will make up the decrease in personal property, so that putting the two totals together the amount will be about the same as that returned last year."

The Assessor May Fool Them.

"Many people are very slow in returning their assessments, blanks, and we have to go after them several times. The time is about up, however, and then we can act for ourselves, and it may be that some of the personal property holders will wonder when they call to pay their taxes how the assessors know so much about their personal effects."

Ward Question Not Settled.

"I don't know what course we shall pursue in regard to wards in making out our returns, but presume we shall be compelled to follow the direction of the city attorney. If he advises us to go ahead on the old ward system, we shall feel perfectly safe to do so, but otherwise, we will feel compelled to follow the new order of things, unless enjoined by some legal process."

POISONED BY HIS SALIVA.

Peculiar Mishap That May Cost One a Middle aged man with one eye swelled up like a winter pippin got off the Rockford train this morning. He was August Werner, a wholesale and retail tobaccoist, and his trouble comes from failing to use water on court plaster. The other day he was opening a pop bottle, when it exploded and a portion of it struck him in the eye, cutting an ugly gash. He went to a druggist and got a piece of court plaster, but instead of moistening it with water before applying it, he up and spit on it. Even a plaster will resent being spit upon, it seems, and the result was that the poison from the saliva got into the wound and swelled up his face so that his best friend would not recognize him. He went to Dr. Nordorling, and the medico had a nice time scraping and cleaning him around in such a way that it would have a chance to heal, and the fear now expressed is that Werner may lose one eye.

A PARDON FOR CLIFFORD.

The District Attorney Notified That Application Will Be Made.

The application will be made before Judge Pugh on June 24. The friends of Captain Pugh will oppose the pardon, as has been the case when former attempts have been made to secure a pardon for the murderer.

MRS. HAWLEY GOES TO EUROPE.

The Janesville Singer to Study Under William Shakespeare.

This morning Mrs. Christine Hawley left for New York, whence she sails on the Cunarder "Umbria" Saturday for Liverpool, en route for London, where she will spend the summer studying voice-culture with the famous William Shakespeare, of whom the Musical Herald says: "He has sufficient reputation to be an autocrat."

Mrs. Hawley has for more than a year past been studying the Shakespeare method for voice-culture with Frank Board of Chicago, who is a pupil of Shakespeare. Realizing great benefit from practicing this method herself, she has determined to teach it exclusively in the future, it being the old Italian method taught by Lamperti and other famous musicians. Mrs. Hawley will return to Janesville early in the fall prepared to resume work with her numerous pupils, and to give them the benefit of her sojourn abroad.

SPRING SHOOTING A SIN.

H. D. McKinney's Suggestion Backed up by "Outing."

H. D. McKinney's suggestion on spring shooting is endorsed by D. W. Sandys, editor of the rod and gun department of "Outing," who speaks as follows in the June number of that excellent magazine: "The folly of shooting a pair of birds in the spring, which, if let alone, would go away for a period and return later with a family of two, six or a dozen, should be apparent to every man. You cannot eat your cake and have it still uneaten. If you were offered a fragment of the cake at once or the whole a little later, would you or would not you consider it good business to 'bide a wee'?"

MR. MILLS SHOULDN'T HAVE GONE.

There Was a Good Field For Him In Racine.

Milwaukee News. The Mills revival meetings at Janesville have been terminated. Much religious enthusiasm was manifested and many sinners of the Rock county metropolis have turned from their evil ways. One thing, however, is to be regretted. The evangelists went straight to New York. They should have stopped about a month in Racine. Cases of drunkenness and depravity are becoming so numerous in the latter place that the mention of Belle City in connection with Racine will be a misnomer.

DISEASE KEPT OUT.

Strict Measures Adopted in the Schools To-Day.

NO FEARS NEED BE ENTERTAINED.

Wherever There Is Sickness of Any Kind in the Family, Children Must Be Sent Home—Quarantine Regulations Strictly Enforced.

A case of diphtheria was reported this afternoon in the Clough family, 229 Gold street, Fifth ward, and a case was reported in the family of Patrick Foley, 71 Pearl street.

The physician attending the Bergman children announced this afternoon that it was determined if any one of the seven now confined will survive.

"I have placed a special policeman on guard at the Bergman house on Western avenue," said Mayor St. John, "and have given him a double-barrel shot gun, with orders to shoot the first person attempting to leave the premises without permission. I know the man I have appointed, and have confidence that he will obey orders. We are determined now to enforce the quarantine in these severe cases. There is no need of alarm, however, if the people will only keep cool and obey orders."

On Guard in the Schools.

Warning was given this morning in all the schools in the city, public, parochial and private, that teachers should question the pupils closely, and in case sickness of any kind was feared, the pupil should be immediately sent home.

The health officer also visited the ministers and forbade the holding of any public funerals in families where any contagious disease prevailed. He appeals to parents to see that his orders are enforced, and asks all to refrain from sending their children to any of the schools if they have sickness in the home.

Strict Quarantine Maintained.

Strict quarantine rules will be enforced in all cases where contagious disease exists. No member of such family will be permitted to leave the premises. Dr. Robinson has made arrangements that in case provisions or family supplies are needed during such quarantine they will be provided either by Superintendent Kenyon or himself.

Many citizens have become thoroughly frightened owing to the scourge breaking out with such fatal effect in the Bergman family on Western avenue, and they are demanding the closing of the schools. Health Officer Robinson and S. C. Burnham, clerk of the school board, made a thorough canvass of the city last evening and only found the scourge in four families, and therefore think it unwise to close the schools, yet they, especially the health officer, admonish all to be careful and cautious, and obey orders and regulations until the scourge is wiped out.

Funeral of Miss Bergman.

Emma Bergman was buried in Oak Hill cemetery this morning at nine o'clock, no public funeral being held. She was eleven years old, and died last evening at five o'clock being a victim of diphtheria. Last Sunday her fourteen year old brother, Amiel, was buried, he being the first of the Bergman family to fall a victim to the diphtheria scourge. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Bergman, reside at 305 Western avenue. There are now seven children down with the scourge in the Bergman home, two of whom are considered critical cases.

MUCH TILTING IN SHOPIERE.

Roads To Be Improved in the Tortoise Metropolis.

SHOPIERE, May 27.—From the amount of tilting being unloaded in town we should think that we were going to have many improvements on our streets this summer.

Our street commissioner has a large force of men laying tile, and we hope to see our streets put in first class shape.

Wilson has another stock of household goods and will commence keeping house again in Mr. Culver's house. William Wheeler has the lumber on hand for a new barn.

CLINTON MEN RUN IT.

A Prairie Do Sac Plant Changes Hands—Electric Lights in Demand.

CLINTON, May 27.—The Herald announces that Clinton business men have secured a large portion of the stock in Springer radiator plant located at Prairie do Sac. They elected their officers as follows: C. T. Drake, president; A. E. Taylor, vice president; William Jones, secretary; A. Woodard, treasurer; George Covert and J. Springer, directors. They hope to control a sufficient amount of stock to enable them to remove the plant to this place.

Many think the village would support a bakery.

J. W. Hartshorn has entered into a contract with the American Express Company, by which he expects, about the first of November, to go onto the road. It is quite likely that his family may also move to Chicago.

An effort is being made to get sufficient pledges as to make possible the running of the incandescent lamps.
